why is it the UnChoice?

New studies change old views about "choice." Few abortions are freely and fairly chosen, or fully and fairly informed. Most involve some form of coercion, which can escalate to violence.
Homicide is the leading killer of pregnant women.

Forced Abortion in America? download special report

Most abortions are unwanted or coerced, and if a woman refuses to abort, it can escalate to violence. The threats aren't idle.
Homicide is the leading killer of pregnant women. Some abort for fear of threats that can range from physical abuse to loss of home or income.

Women have been forcibly restrained, beaten and tortured, or even taken to the clinic at gunpoint. Clinics rarely screen for coercion. Rapists use repeat abortions to conceal their crimes against children and young women.

For years, women have been misinformed about fetal development, risks and alternatives. Many were denied help and pushed or even forced into unwanted abortions.

After abortion, 65% suffer trauma. Suicide is 6 times higher. Yet women -- and others impacted by abortion -- are denied even the right to grieve the injustice and deception, but above all, the loss of a child.
